THE GOLDEN SUNSET.

BY REV. AMUEL LONGFELLOW.

The golden sea its mirror spreads
Beneath the golden skies.
And but a narrow strip between
Of land and shadow lies.

The cloud-like rocks, the rock-like clouds,
Dissolved in glory float;
And midway of the radiant flood
Hangs silently the boat.

The sea is but another sky.
The sky a sea as well,
And which is earth, and which the heavens
The eye can scarcely tell.

So when for us life's evening hour
Soft passing shall descend,
May glory born of earth and heaven
The earth and heavens blend;

Flooded with space the spirit float,
With silent rapture glow,
Till where each ends and heavens begins,
The soul shall scarcely know.

MEN WHO DON'T COUNT.

Mr. Halstead Thinks Recent Desertions from Republicans Blessings to the Party.

Moral Halstead in New York Herald (Dem.)

My prediction that Georgia would renew her allegiance to the Democratic party at the state election has been verified by "a large majority." The re-elected governor is not only a Democrat, but an agricultural leader, an Alliance sympathizer and the friend of the colored man, known throughout the state for acts of humanity toward them that has won them. Why should he not be re-elected? The question whether Tom Watson goes back to Congress will not be settled until next month.

The joy of the Democracy over carrying Georgia is a surprise. Their souls must have been shaken beyond any supposition. The opposition to the Democracy in Alabama remains formidable, and will win with the electoral ticket unpledged, except against Cleveland, unless the Democracy manage to divert a large black vote to their straight Harrison and Reid ticket. That straight Republican ticket, provided and pushed by the Democrats, is a smart turn for them, and may save the state for Cleveland. The interest that southern elections excite; the fierce antagonism of white men to Democratic frauds in the Gulf states; the reluctant recognition of black men as possible voters, with a margin of political freedom; the appeal in Alabama to national instrumentality to see fair play in national elections, are gratifying. The promise is that there is to be redemption of the south, by the south, for the south, from the clutch of the Democratic party.

General Weaver has not grasped the destiny that was within his reach—taking the leadership of the constitutional revolution—by resigning his candidacy and recommending the union of the opponents of the old parties on the Alabama plan, the only popular instruction to the electors being that they should not vote for Cleveland. But the southern campaign he has made fixes all the alleged doubtful states of the northwest for the Republicans.

It seems in the rainbow region that the seventy thousand Democratic majority in Georgia is an endorsement of the boy who threw the egg. It is not so, but impressions are important. The procession of Republicans who rushed to the help of Cleveland, sympathizing with the change of heart marked by the difference between his speech and his letter of acceptance, has ended, and they amount to a constitutional crank (Cooley), a presidential crank (Gresham), a professional crank (MacVough), an egotistical crank (Julian), four votes, and all of them, with the exception of Cooley, have been in the habit of voting for Cleveland. They are old and cold chestnuts. Republicans may bless God and take courage that they are gone. We may expect to hear in a few days that ex-Governor Curtin, of Pennsylvania, and ex-Governor Hoadly, of Ohio, and ex-Governor Palmer, of Illinois, will vote for Cleveland, and the Democratic press to freshen up the news with many head lines.

If the Democratic party could show some accessions, such as the Republicans have had in Brooklyn, they might talk. I refer to the Somers Brothers, who had placed a quarter of a million dollars in the manufacture of tin for use in their own business, and are rolling the plates from American steel, which is better than is made in England, and to Mr. Grosjean, manufacturer of ironware, and who employs a thousand men. These citizens are friends and admirers of Mr. Cleveland, but the exhibit of the true inwardness of the Democratic party at Chicago decided that they could support no man engaged in a free trade propaganda. These are typical business men who have voted for Cleveland for the presidency twice and will vote against him this time. I have in mind a Republican in Brooklyn who has a list of twenty-five Democrats of his own acquaintance who will vote for Harrison against Cleveland.

There is a strong symptom of the Democracy in the fact that their most confidential affairs are ill-kept. We hear continually of the "goings on" of the council chambers of the Democratic leaders. Depew's joiceous confidential report at the Brooklyn rink of the Cleveland dinner party to Crocker, Sheehan and Murphy was a picturesque revelation of the facts as they occurred, and there was no confidence violated in the telling as Depew told it. Mr. Cleveland has to choose between the certainty of defeat and becoming "one of us," a thorough Tammany man, in order to prove that he is a Democrat. When he gets that far, what becomes of the anti-suffragers, and all of the super-humanly virtuous people who met and mingled at Syracuse?

The strain and struggle on the inside of the Democratic organization is severe, and the exhibition of jealousies and insinuations shocking. It is to be said of some of those who are giving Cleveland conspicuous support that they are playing as if at checkers in a giveaway game. The only thing that I have heard that has a tendency to discourage the Republicans, if it does not arouse them to greater activity, is that some of Cleveland's supporters are afraid that he may be elected, and are urging that the full Republican vote shall be got out. My impression that Harrison and Reid are leading in a lucky and winning campaign has been strengthened by the retirement of Mr. Cleveland from the Neal-Waterman to the Jones-Vilas platform, the plea of poverty by the strategist, Harrity, after a conference of millionaires, and the adjustment of the extension of the street railroad franchises, dropping the trolley for the present.

A Valuable Discovery.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 13.—The young Jesuit astronomer, Professor George A. Fargis, S. J., of Georgetown University, who some time ago invented the photo-chronograph for measuring star transits, has made a novel and, it is claimed, very valuable application of his discovery. By it he has also been able to determine latitude and longitude.

The Rev. J. G. Hazen, S. J., the director in chief of the Georgetown observatory, says on the subject: "The determination of latitudes, and particularly of their periodic variations by means of photography has repeatedly been pronounced feasible and highly desirable, yet a method which would afford all the advantages of the usual methods and at the same time put the whole record graphically on a sensitive plate, has never been suggested." Professor Fargis, himself says: "It is desirable to state here that the results are not considered final because the declinations will have to be carefully scrutinized when the material is more abundant, and because of the defective construction of a microscope."

HILL'S MACHINE

Still Master of the Situation—He Gives Cleveland Another Black Eye.

New York, Oct. 13.—The Hill machine held stoutly together yesterday, and whirled the Hill buzz saw with more than usual velocity, says the Herald.

The buzz saw slackened off the aspirations of Judge Rufus W. Peckham at one revolution, dazed the Mugwumpian finger of the legal gentleman, who last winter made Judge Isaac H. Maynard an object fit for a scrubbing brush and whitewash, and cut a fine piece of Republican timber to be used for Hill building purposes in this campaign. The stick of Republican timber is Judge Charles Andrews, who was nominated for chief judge of the court of appeals by the Democratic state committee, as he had been the day before by the Republican state committee.

So the deal was consummated. It was consummated with the final acquiescence therein of Edward Murphy, Jr., and Richard Croker, who had desired the nomination of Judge Peckham, believing that it would please the anti-snappers, who, they thought, had been kicked and cuffed enough, and increase largely the vote for the electoral ticket. The deal shows that David B. Hill is still very much master of the Democratic situation in the empire state. It also repeats the wise and patriotic Republican sagacity of Thomas C. Platt in forcing the nomination of Andrews for the Democrats to indorse, so that no odious comparisons can be made after election day.

The Jeannette Medals.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 13.—The ill-starred Jeannette Arctic expedition was recalled yesterday at the navy department, when there was presented Commodore Melville, chief of the bureau of steam engineering, one of the medals awarded by Congress to the survivors of the expedition. But one officer besides Commodore Melville is alive, B. S. Newcomb, the naturalist of the expedition. The six others are dead, and their medals have been sent to their heirs. About a dozen of the twenty-five sailors are supposed to be alive, and their medals will be sent to them when their addresses are known.

LONDON, Oct. 13.—The Times Rome correspondent is of the opinion that the government's official programme "conceals the real intentions which the government probably frankly intended to indicate. He says no substantial improvement is to be expected. Evidently the deficit is much underestimated and the government's currency policy is vague."

Prominent Republican Dead.

LYONS, N. Y., Oct. 13.—John H. Camp, of this village, is dead. He was an ex-congressman and one of the most prominent Republicans in the state, and a leader in Wayne county for many years. He was a member of the Republican state committee.

The Brooks License Law.

Since the enactment of the Brooks Bill our hotels, druggists and dealers in general are handling much better grades of liquors, particularly is this the case in the western portion of Pennsylvania, where Rye Whiskies are best known. The best known and most frequently called for are Klein's Silver Age Rye, which sells at $1.50 per full quart, and Klein's Duquesne at $1.25 per full quart. Recommended by hospitals and prescribed by physicians. Ask your dealer for them. Send for complete catalogue and price list, mailed upon application, to MAX KLEIN, 82 Federal street, Allegheny, Pa.

ALLOW ME to add my tribute to the efficacy of Ely's Cream Balm. I was suffering from a severe attack of influenza and catarrh and was induced to try your remedy. The result was marvelous. I could hardly articulate, and in less than twenty-four hours the catarrhal symptoms and my hoarseness disappeared and I was able to sing a heavy role in Grand Opera with voice unimpaired. I strongly recommend it to all singers.—Wm. H. Hamilton, Leading Bass of the C. D. Hess Grand Opera Co.

A Cholera scare.

A reported outbreak of cholera at Helmetta, N. J., created much excitement in that vicinity. Investigation showed that the disease was not cholera, but a violent dysentery, which is almost as severe and dangerous as cholera. Mr. Walter Willard, a prominent merchant of Jamesburg, two miles from Helmetta, says: "Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy has given great satisfaction in the most severe cases of dysentery. It is certainly one of the best things ever made." Daw
